

Always at the Service of Veterans

Improve Veterans' mental health care and services

- » Expand mental health care options for Veterans in underserved communities through grant programs. This includes the Staff Sergeant Parker Gordon Fox Suicide Prevention Grant Program, which dedicates resources toward community-based suicide prevention efforts for Veterans and their families.
- » Assess complementary and integrative health treatments to optimize VA's Whole Health model, giving Veterans more care options to take charge of their health.
- » Boost telehealth availability in rural areas to reduce barriers Veterans face in accessing mental health services.

Advance mental health research

- » Studying causes of mental health disorders so it can identify, improve, and expand treatment protocols. VA will also use study results to enhance mental health and suicide prevention resources and care provisions.
- » Analyzing data from Veterans with severe mental illness to expand our knowledge and help identify those susceptible to disease, improving diagnostics and care for Veterans.

Innovative programs under way

- » Establishing a scholarship program to build on professional education of VA's mental health providers, bringing new, innovative ideas in mental health and extending support services to Veterans in rural areas.
- » Conducting a pilot program to explore alternative mental health treatments for Veterans, including animal therapy, sports and recreation therapy, and art therapy.
- » Studying the impact of living at high altitude and risk of suicide and depression among Veterans to help clinicians identify and treat at-risk patients.
