Suicide Prevention

Brief overview

Suicide in the U.S.

- 13.5% of all Americans reported a history of suicidal ideation or thinking
- 3.9% actually made a suicide plan that included a definite time, place and method
- 4.6% reported actual suicide attempts
- 50% of those who attempted suicide made a “serious” attempt
Suicide Prevention

Brief overview

Suicide in the veteran population

- Male veterans are twice as likely as civilians of either gender to commit suicide
- 1000 suicides occur per year among veterans receiving VA care
- 5000 suicides occur per year among all living veterans
Suicide Prevention

Brief overview

What do the statistics mean?

- Veterans may be at higher risk for suicide.
- We need to do more to reduce risk.
- Suicides are preventable in most cases.

Myths and Misinformation

- Myth: Asking about suicide will plant the idea in a person’s head.

- Reality: Asking a person about suicide does not create suicidal thoughts any more than asking about chest pain causes angina. The act of asking the question simply gives the person permission to talk about his or her thoughts or feelings.
Suicide Prevention

Myths and Misinformation

- Myth: There are talkers and there are doers.
- Reality: Most people who die by suicide have communicated some intent. Someone who talks about suicide gives the guide and/or clinician an opportunity to intervene before suicidal behaviors occur.
Myths and Misinformation

Myth: If somebody really wants to die by suicide, there is nothing you can do about it.

Reality: Most suicidal ideas are associated with the presence of underlying treatable disorders. Providing a safe environment for treatment of the underlying cause can save a life. The acute risk for suicide is often time-limited. If you can help the person survive the immediate crisis and overcome the strong intent to die by suicide, you have gone a long way toward promoting a positive outcome.
Suicide Prevention

Myths and Misinformation

- Myth: He/she really wouldn't commit suicide because...
  - he just made plans for a vacation
  - she has young children at home
  - he made a verbal or written promise
  - she knows how dearly her family loves her

- Reality: The intent to die can override any rational thinking. “No Harm” or “No Suicide” contracts have been shown to be ineffective from a clinical and management perspective. A person experiencing suicidal ideation or intent must be taken seriously and referred to a clinical provider who can further evaluate their condition and provide treatment as appropriate.
Operation S. A. V. E. will help you act with care and compassion if you encounter a person who is suicidal.

The acronym “SAVE” summarizes the steps needed to take an active and valuable role in suicide prevention.

- Signs of suicidal thinking
- Ask questions
- Validate the person’s experience
- Encourage treatment and Expedite getting help
Importance of identification

- Suicidal individuals are not always easy to identify.
- There is no single profile to guide recognition.
- There are a number of warning signs and symptoms.
  - Some of the signs of suicidality are obvious, but others are not.
  - Signs and symptoms do not always mean the person is suicidal but:
    - When you recognize signs, it is important to ask the person how they are doing because they may mean that they are in trouble.

Ask questions

To effectively determine if a person is suicidal, one needs to interact in a manner that communicates concern and understanding. As well, one needs to know how to manage personal discomfort (i.e., anxiety, fear, frustration, personal, cultural or religious values) in order to directly address the issue.

Know how to ask the most important question

The most difficult S. A. V. E. step is asking the most important question of all – “Are you thinking of killing yourself.”
Suicide Prevention

Ask questions

How DO I ask the question?

- DO ask the question after you have enough information to reasonably believe the person is suicidal.

- DO ask the question in such a way that is natural and flows with the conversation.

DON’T ask the question as though you are looking for a “no” answer. “You aren’t thinking of killing yourself are you?”
Suicide Prevention

Ask questions

Things to consider when you talk with the person:

- Remain calm
- Listen more than you speak
- Maintain eye contact
- Act with confidence
- Do not argue
- Use open body language
- Limit questions to gathering information casually
- Use supportive and encouraging comments
- Be as honest and “up front” as possible
Suicide Prevention

Validate the veteran’s experience

Validation means:

- Show the person that you are following what they are saying
- Accept their situation for what it is
- You are not passing judgment
- Let them know that their situation is serious and deserving of attention
- Acknowledge their feelings
- Let him or her know you are there to help

Encourage treatment and Expedite getting help

For the cooperative person:

Tips for encouraging treatment:

1. Explain that there are trained professionals available to help them.
2. Explain that treatment works.
3. Explain that getting help for this kind of problem is no different than seeing a specialist for other medical problems.
4. Tell them that getting treatment is his or her right.
5. If they tell you that they have had treatment before and it has not worked, try asking: “What if this is the time it does work?”
Encourage treatment and Expedite getting help

Tips for expediting a referral:

1. Assist the person in getting to a care facility by personally taking them or arranging for transportation.
2. Call the VA Suicide Hotline number with the veteran to get a referral started. 1-800-273-TALK – push “1”.
3. Call the local facility Suicide Prevention Coordinator – you make access this person from the information desk at any VA.
Suicide Prevention

Encourage treatment and Expedite getting help

For uncooperative people or those in immediate crisis:

As you encourage the person to seek help, some situations may involve people who are hostile and aggressive.

Here are some useful safety guidelines for working with seriously and acutely distressed people:

[These rules are both for the person’s safety and yours.]

- If you are not in face-to-face contact but are speaking over the phone with a person who expresses intent to harm self or others - call 911 for assistance.
Suicide Prevention

Encourage treatment and Expedite getting help

- Any time a person has a weapon or object that can be used as a weapon – call for help.

- If a person tells you that they have overdosed on pills or other drugs or there are signs of physical injury – call for help.

- In addition to calling for help, if you are confronted with a hostile or armed person, leave the area and attempt to isolate the person. If the person leaves your area, attempt to observe his or her direction of movement from a safe distance and report your observations as soon as authorities arrive on scene.
